"Forgiveness"

John D. Rockefeller built the great Standard Oil empire. Not surprisingly, Rockefeller was a man who demanded high performance from his company executives. One day, one of those executives made a two million dollar mistake.

Word of the man's enormous error quickly spread throughout the executive offices, and the other men began to make themselves scarce. Afraid of Rockefeller's reaction, they didn't even want to cross his path.

One man didn't have any choice, however, since he had an appointment with the boss.

As he approached the oil monarch's desk, Rockefeller looked up from the piece of paper on which he was writing.

"I guess you've heard about the two million dollar mistake our friend made," he said abruptly.

"Yes," the executive said, expecting Rockefeller to explode.

Well, I've been sitting here listing all of our friend's good qualities on this sheet of paper, and I've discovered that in the past he has made us many more times the amount he lost for us today by his one mistake. His good points far outweigh this one human error. So I think we ought to forgive him, don't you?"

Just like Rockefeller, God doesn't limit His vision to the present, but He looks back to the past where He sees our sins nailed to the cross. That is why David is able to say in Psalm 103:12, "As far as the east is from the west, So far has He removed our transgressions from us."

The above illustration is quoted from You Can Win with Love by Dale Galloway (Harvest House, 1976) in Swindoll's Ultimate Book of Illustrations & Quotes by Charles Swindoll (Thomas Nelson, 1998).
